Governor takes action. This past Thursday, March 9 was the deadline for the governor to act on bills passed by the legislature in the session that ended on February 18. Most of the disability-related bills that made it through the legislative process were signed into law by Governor Martinez, but she vetoed two of them. For a list and description of these bills, see page 2. A recap of disability-related bills that did not pass begins on page 3.

Budget bills approved. The governor signed the state budget bill (HB 2) with very few line-item vetoes, none of which directly affected disability programs. Due to the state’s bleak revenue outlook, HB 2 reduces overall state spending in the coming year by about $7 million. Medicaid, public education and a few other programs and agencies received small increases in funding, but most agencies will see budget cuts up to about 4%. The governor also approved HB 311, which enabled the state to avoid larger budget reductions by transferring unspent balances in a variety of accounts to the state’s general fund.

Several disability-related bills signed into law. Governor Martinez signed HB 61, which authorizes persons with disabilities to save up money in special savings accounts without losing their eligibility for SSI or other benefit programs for low-income individuals. She also approved bills extending protections for student athletes to reduce brain injuries, and authorizing public alerts when a person with developmental disabilities goes missing and their health or safety is at risk. As expected, the governor also approved SB 113, a bill opposed during the session by DRNM that will authorize court-ordered outpatient mental health treatment.

Doomed by the veto pen. SB 36, which required the Department of Health to provide an annual report on the DD waiver and the waiting list for that program, was vetoed by the governor even though DOH did not oppose it during legislative committee hearings. In her veto message, the governor noted that the department secretary is available to provide any information the legislature needs. HB 70, requiring that individuals getting hearing aids be given information about connections with assistive listening systems, was also vetoed.

Looking ahead. During the “interim” period before the next legislative session, various legislative committees will be meeting. Of particular interest to the disability community will be the Health and Human Services Committee, the Disability Concerns Subcommittee, and the Legislative Finance Committee. You can find information about the membership and meeting schedule of these and other committees on the legislature’s web site, nmlegis.gov.

Looking further ahead, 2016 is an election year, and all seats in both the state Senate and House of Representatives are up for election. Primary elections will occur in June, with the general election to be held in early November. If you’re not already registered to vote, do it now! You can register online or in person at a wide variety of locations. To register online, go to the Secretary of State’s website at sos.state.nm.us, scroll down the homepage to the “2016 Election Information” section, and click on “Online Voter Registration”. If you need information on how or where to register to vote in person, contact DRNM.

Bills and Memorials that Passed in the 2016 Legislative Session

The state budget

HB 2 General Appropriations Act. Rep. Larry Larrañaga. This is the state budget bill, providing funding for all state agencies for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2016 (FY2017). Although the Medicaid program received an increase of $22 million from the state general fund, this fell far short of the $85 million increase that HSD projected the program would need. In addition, Medicaid funding in the current year will fall short because HSD did not get the full amount of the supplemental appropriation it asked for to meet the expected deficit. The cumulative shortfall for the two years comes to more than $85 million in state funding – over $400 million total when federal matching funds are included. That’s a significant funding shortage, which will require HSD to institute a number of “cost containment” measures, including reductions in provider rates, increased costs to consumers in the form of monthly premiums and co-pays for services, and possible benefit cuts.

The budget reduces non-Medicaid behavioral health contract services by about $2.5 million compared to the current year, and earmarks $1 million of available funding for spending in behavioral health “investment zones”, $250,000 for inpatient psychiatric services, and $100,000 for Native American suicide prevention.

At the Department of Health, the DD waiver program was spared from budget cuts, and there is apparently about $800,000 in the budget that is intended to move about 40 people off of the waiting list and into the waiver program.

The DD Planning Council’s Office of Guardianship saw a funding increase from Medicaid and other sources totaling nearly $400,000, for personnel and for contractors who petition for guardianship or serve as court visitors or guardians ad litem when guardianship is proposed, or who act as guardians or treatment guardians when guardianships are established.

Most other state agencies that primarily serve persons with disabilities saw small reductions in their budgets compared to current-year funding levels.

- HB 61 Accounts for Persons with Disabilities. Rep. Sheryl Williams Stapleton. Authorizes tax-free savings accounts for persons with disabilities that would allow individuals to accumulate savings of up to $100,000 while still remaining eligible for public benefits such as SSI (which currently has a resource limit of just $2,000). The savings could be used for disability-related purposes such as home modifications, education, transportation and job training. Signed into law.
- HB 70 Hearing Aids and Assistive Listening Systems. Rep. Carl Trujillo. Required audiologists and hearing aid dispensers to provide information about hearing aid options that can provide a direct connection between the hearing aid and assistive listening systems. Vetoed.

• SB 137 Extend Protections for Young Athletes. Sen. Michael Sanchez. Extends the time a student athlete would be held out of further competition after a brain injury from one week to 10 days.
